

Biography

Debora Afezolli, MD

Dr. Debora Afezolli is a geriatrician and palliative care specialist. She earned her medical degree from University of Massachusetts Medical School in Worcester MA, and subsequently trained in internal medicine at Boston University's Boston Medical Center where she spent an extra year serving as Chief Resident. She then completed an integrated fellowship at Icahn's School of Medicine Mount Sinai Hospital in geriatrics and palliative medicine, where she also served as a Chief Fellow. Dr. Afezolli is now an Assistant Professor at Mount Sinai Hospital in the Department of Geriatrics and Palliative Medicine and is the physician administrative lead for one of their supportive oncology ambulatory practices. She is interested in the standardization of care and quality improvement in the ambulatory palliative care setting and hopes to inspire physicians to pursue the rewarding fields of geriatrics and palliative care.