

Biography

Ruwaida Vakil, MS

Ruwaida Vakil, MS, is a freelance medical writer, communications specialist and owner of ProMed Write, LLC. Ruwaida is also the current secretary for the American Medical Writers Association Delaware Valley Chapter (AMWA-DVC). She is also on the webinar committee and journal committee for AMWA national. She specializes in CME needs analyses, educational pieces for health care professionals, sales training pieces, online articles, direct to consumer publications, slide presentations and webinars. Ruwaida earned her Master of Science in immunology at the University of Toronto and the Ontario Cancer Institute. She worked as a research scientist at the Ontario Cancer Institute, Connaught Laboratories (now Aventis Pasteur) and Hoffmann La Roche. Ruwaida has given presentations at the American Medical Writers Association (AMWA) national meeting as well as the Alliance for Continuing Education in the Health Professions (ACEHP) national meeting. She has given multiple webinars and training presentations to medical writers and leaders in the pharmaceutical industry. She has also coauthored an AMWA training guide on “Best Practices for Writing CME Needs Assessments.”