

Biography

Susan L. Voci, MD

Dr. Voci received her Bachelor of Science degree in nursing magna cum laude from University of Vermont and worked in neurosurgical and surgical intensive care units before earning a medical degree from University of Vermont College of Medicine. She completed postdoctoral training at Berkshire Medicine Center of the University of Massachusetts and at Rochester General Hospital in Rochester, New York. A diplomate of the American Board of Radiology, Dr. Voci is Professor of Radiology at University of Rochester Medical Center in New York. She has been accepted as a fellow of the American College of Radiology (ACR). Dr. Voci has written and co-authored many articles and book chapters. She has given national presentations on various topics in radiology and has served as a visiting professor and lecturer at several medical centers and universities. In addition, she has been active nationally with the ACR, developing and participating in educational programs and workshops as well as serving on numerous guidelines committees.